

Framingham Seed Lending Library

Useful websites

Arnold Arboretum

<http://www.arboretum.harvard.edu/about/our-mission/>

Dedicated to education, research and preservation of the earth's diverse plant kingdom.

Cornell University : Vegetable Growing Guides

www.gardening.cornell.edu/homegardening/sceneb771.html

Old Farmer's Almanac

<http://www.almanac.com/>

Articles and charts for the weather, frost dates, growing guides, gardening blogs, recipes and more.

Garden in the Woods

<http://www.newenglandwild.org/visit/Garden-in-the-Woods>

Information about growing plants in New England and the conservation of plants.

Local Harvest

<http://www.localharvest.org/framingham-ma>

Listings of local farmer's markets, food co-ops, events and more. Can subscribe to newsletter and order products online.

Massachusetts Department of Agricultural Resources

<http://www.mass.gov/agr/massgrown/index.htm>

Can search for farms, farmers' markets, pick-your-own farms, beekeepers and honey producers, maple syrup farms and more.

Pinterest

<https://www.pinterest.com/search/pins/?q=gardening&rs=typed&0=gardening|typed>

Sign up and search "gardening" for great tips and DIY gardening ideas.

Seed Saver's Exchange

<http://www.seedsavers.org/?gclid=CN6zmcH01MsCFYwfhgodEW8PvA>

Can purchase heirloom and open-pollinated seeds. Has information about each variety and growing information.

Square Foot Gardening Foundation

<http://squarefootgardening.org/>

Dedicated to promoting healthy living, sustainability and reliance through gardening. Opportunities to get involved and volunteer.

Square Foot Gardening

<http://www.melbartholomew.com/>

Describes methods of gardening with a helpful beginner's guide and questions and comments section. Can purchase gardening materials.

Transition Framingham

<http://transitionframingham.org/>

Working towards a future that is less dependent on fossil fuels and is more resilient and sustainable, through education and community projects including creating the Seed Lending Library at the Framingham Public Library.

