Lifelong Learning Lecture Series – Fall 2017

October 12 – Woman's Suffrage Movement in Massachusetts

Guest Speaker: Barbara Berenson, Senior Attorney, MA Supreme Judicial Court. This talk will focus on Lucy Stone and other 19th century activists that are featured in Berenson's upcoming book. Topics will include the women's rights movement from within the anti-slavery movement and the post-Civil War schism over race and its lasting repercussions.

October 19 – Survive and Thrive with Climate Change

Guest Speaker: Dr. Vandana Singh, Professor, FSU. How do we engage with the problem of climate change, as concerned citizens, parents and grandparents? This talk describes ways to bring greater depth and meaning to our lives and communities by transforming our relationship with the rest of nature.

October 26 – Brazil's Dom Pedro II, Greatest Ruler of the 19th Century?

Guest Speaker: Dr. Dan Breen, Lecturer, Brandeis University.

During his 58 years of power, Dom Pedro II was idolized in the US for his passionate support for science and the arts and his opposition to slavery. He deserves to be ranked along with Abraham Lincoln as one of the Western Hemisphere's most consequential political leaders of the 19th Century.
