Tea & Talk Tuesdays
TED Talk: The Danger of a Single Story, by Chimamanda Ngozi Adichie
Tuesday December 29, 3-4pm – Online via Zoom
As a child in Nigeria, the internationally renowned author Chimamanda Ngozi Adichie was a voracious reader. One day, she realized that most of the children in the books she read were blond, blue-eyed, and played in the snow on Christmas Day, and wondered where were the books that featured children who looked like her? Years later, as a student at a prestigious American university, Adichie felt shocked and diminished by other students' narrow perceptions of her native country, and while traveling in Mexico, Adichie was embarrassed to discover her own single story about Mexicans. In this expressive and moving talk, Adichie discusses the dangers that arise from the unquestioned and unexamined single stories we unconsciously narrate about ourselves and each other. Let’s discuss the single stories we have heard about ourselves and with a bit of courage and honesty, examine those we harbor about others. Email us at framinghamlibraryevents@gmail.com to receive an invitation and link to the Zoom session.

STAFF RECOMMENDS Here are some recommendations from our staff that you can find on our digital resources, or in print from our catalog.

BOOKS on Hoopla and in our catalog

FOR ALL AGES:

Letters From Father Christmas
by J.R.R. Tolkien
Available on Hoopla as an eBook and in our catalog.

What began as simple letters to his own children addressed from Father Christmas soon became an annual tradition of storytelling. Tolkien creates fun adventures and characters for Father Christmas, accompanied with Tolkien's own color illustrations. All the original letters are reproduced in full color. A delightful fanciful treat for the holidays. – Jon

Mindful of Race: Transforming Racism from the Inside, Out
by Ruth King
Available on Libby/Overdrive as an eBook and in our catalog.

Of all forms of oppression, racism is the one most enmeshed with our sense of social normalcy. And, while it has been discussed the longest, it hasn't penetrated many hearts enough in ways to uproot its harm. Ruth King’s words can show us racial habits of injury so pointedly that uprooting can begin with this book. – Janet

MOVIES on Kanopy or DVD

The Assistant
Available on Kanopy or on DVD in our catalog.

In this 2019 release, a recent college grad lands her dream job as assistant to a powerful movie producer. We follow Jane through one workday, and realize it is as mundane as any other entry level position. However, abuse and humiliation abound. Jane is faced with deciding whether to go along with it all or fight the status quo and say goodbye to her dreams. Julia Garner is magnificently compelling in this quiet, unique and powerful film. – Kiera

The Curse of the Cat People
Available on DVD in our catalog.

One of my favorite Christmas movies is barely one, and barely a sequel to 1942’s Cat People. It concerns a lonely little girl and some uncanny goings on. It's beautiful and sad and spooky and simple. Directed by Robert Wise (The Day the Earth Stood Still, The Sound of Music). If you're tired of the old holiday standbys, try this one. – Jon

Anti-Racism Resources on Our Website

Documentary Film

Tim Wise: On White Privilege
Available on Kanopy.

For years, acclaimed author and speaker Tim Wise has been electrifying audiences on the college lecture circuit with his deeply personal take on whiteness and white privilege. In this spellbinding lecture, the author of White Like Me: Reflections on Race from a Privileged Son offers a unique, inside-out view of race and racism in America.

Do you need something to binge read (and watch!)?

There’s an older eight book romance series (2000) by Julia Quinn that’s being turned into a Netflix series, releasing on Christmas, which gives you plenty of time to read them all in preparation! The series surrounds one family, the Bridgertons, and the eight children who need to be married off in Regency high society. The first book, The Duke and I, follows Daphne and her coming out season to find a husband. She soon (accidentally) falls in love with her brother’s best friend, which causes all kinds of family drama. They are steamy, let’s call them a semi-R rated Downton Abbey. The Netflix series is produced by Shonda Rhimes of Scandal and Grey’s Anatomy fame. Available in all formats. – Jennifer R.

Children’s Book Reviews

The List of Things That Will Not Change by Rebecca Stead

Bea’s dad is getting married! Her dad’s new husband has a daughter so she’ll be getting a sister. She can’t wait to meet her. She may have new things now, like a sister, two houses and a dog named Rocco. But there are also things that will not change, like the fact that both her parents love her. Bea is such a positive force, but she also goes to therapy and has eczema. She’s not perfect. This middle-grade novel, by a Newbery award winning author, goes back and forth telling you about Bea’s life before her parents got divorced. Recommended for Grades 5-9. Reviewed by Jennifer. Available in all formats: book, audio, and playaway in our catalog, and eBook and eAudio in Overdrive/Libby.

Class Act by Jerry Craft

In this companion to the Newbery winning New Kid, 8th grader Drew Ellis begins his second year at Riverdale Academy Day School in the Bronx with his best friends Jordan and Liam. Drew and Jordan, who are both African American, face different struggles throughout this novel which, unlike in New Kid, offers the perspectives of not just Jordan, but also his two friends. Instantly I was hooked on the story and I realized I didn’t want to put the book down! The book touches on a number of social themes and is a must read for all ages. Recommended for Grades 4-8. Reviewed by Jillian. Available as a book in our catalog, and eBook in Overdrive/Libby.
